LG Energy suffers second major accident in two months

By Jordan Wilcox
Assistant Publisher

For the second time in less than two months, there's been another major accident at LG Energy Solution. On Saturday, September 6th, there was a massive chemical spill at the Fillmore Township plant responsible for producing electric vehicle batteries, such as those in the Mustang Mach-E.

According to a press release from the Holland Fire Department (HFD), crews were dispatched to the facility at 875 E 48th Street at 3:26 pm, where, upon arrival, they quickly identified an unknown chemical spill within the facility.

With help from the Graafschap Fire Department, the HFD initiated hazardous materials protocols, secured the scene, and ensured the safety of employees and surrounding areas. Specialized teams were brought in to conduct cleanup operations and ensure the facility was safe and secure. The spill was contained on site, and there was no threat to the public outside the immediate area of the facility.

Due to their rapid response, no life-threatening injuries were reported, but 16 individuals were rushed to area hospitals. WOOD-TV News 8 reported that four each were sent to Holland Hospital and Corewell Zeeland Hospital, but were found to be in good condition and never admitted. The other eight were treated in the ER of University of Michigan Health-West in Wyoming and have since been released.

This incident comes less than two months after another horrific catastrophe on the LG factory floor. In late July, 34-year-old Kim Jong Won was installing a new machine when it inadvertently activated, crushing his head and neck between a frame and lifting mechanism.

The Holland Department of Public Safety's report shows that Won was employed by LG PRI, a vendor of the factory, who was tasked with working on the automation of their machinery. It also says that officials at the scene declared him "clearly deceased," and no life-saving attempts were made.

Both of these events are now under investigation by the Michigan Occupational Safety and Health Administration (MIOSHA), along with a slew of other alleged violations.

MIOSHA records show that between 2021 and 2024, the state filed over 20 formal citations against the plant.

Of those, 13 were flagged as serious, meaning they could've caused death, and two were flagged as willful, meaning LG "either knowingly failed to comply with a legal requirement (purposeful disregard) or acted with plain indifference to employee safety." Two were also repeat citations.

The citations list numerous infractions committed by LG, including those related to hazard communication, control of hazardous energy, training, and failure to abate. Each carries a hefty fine, but the parties are allowed to negotiate.

The two willful citations involved the lockout/tagout of machines or "the servicing and maintenance of machines and equipment in which the unexpected energization or start up of the machines or equipment, or release of stored energy could cause injury to employees." Each of these citations carried a $70,000 penalty.

WOOD-TV News 8 determined that all of LG's infractions would have totaled just under $300,000, but OSHA settled for just under $90,000.

In addition to Saturday's disaster in Holland, another LG Energy Solution facility, their joint manufacturing plant with Hyundai Motors in Ellabell, Georgia, also became embroiled in controversy this past week. On Thursday, September 4th, the Department of Homeland Security carried out the largest single-site immigration enforcement action in United States history, arresting 475 people.

Wilcox Newspapers was unable to find any statement from LG about the recent events, but was able to confirm that they are committed to working with investigators in Holland and Lansing. In a previous statement to the Holland Sentinel, LG External Affairs/Government Relations Manager Philip Lienert said that "safety remains our highest priority."

Allegan roundabout receives AASHTO award

The Michigan Department of Transportation's (MDOT) $7 million roundabout project in Allegan is this year's winner of the Quality of Life/Community Development small project award.

The award was given by the American Association of State Highway and Transportation Officials (AASHTO) for Allegan's new traffic circle and rebuild of the M-89/M-40/Hubbard Street intersection.

"I'm very proud of our team and we accept this award with honor and appreciation on behalf of the Department and the good people from the city of Allegan," said MDOT project manager and engineer Thomas Sabin.

The five-legged intersection was a prime candidate for a roundabout, to help with congestion and safety in an area where three state routes connect, MDOT said in a release.

Fennville takes step toward revitalization with housing and mixed-use development

by Andrea Philipp

The City of Fennville is taking significant strides toward revitalizing its downtown corridor with a development plan that is both innovative and deeply rooted in community needs. According to Samuel Jacobs, the city's initiative is unique in its focus: bringing "missing middle" housing types—such as townhomes and fourplexes—into the heart of downtown. The project also emphasizes the importance of mixed-use development, combining residential and commercial spaces to reinvigorate the local economy and support the city's long-term vision.

This new approach aims to fill a critical gap in the local housing market. Missing middle housing refers to building types that fall between single-family homes and large apartment complexes, offering more affordable and flexible living options. These types of homes are ideal for young professionals, small families, and seniors—groups that often struggle to find suitable housing in traditional development models. By introducing these housing options in downtown Fennville, the city hopes to attract a diverse group of residents who will, in turn, bring year-round activity and vibrancy to the area.

"Our goal is to not only build more housing but to build the right kind of housing," Jacobs said. "This development is about creating places for people to live who will also support and sustain our downtown businesses during all seasons, not just the peak tourist months."

Fennville's downtown has already seen significant historic investment, most notably the ongoing restoration of the historic Stevens Hotel. This renewed focus on historic preservation, paired with development on currently vacant land, underscores the city's commitment to building out a vibrant, walkable downtown footprint that reflects both its heritage and its future aspirations.

Mixed-use development is another central pillar of this vision. By combining housing units with ground-floor retail or commercial space, Fennville aims to create a more integrated, livable downtown. These types of developments not only improve walkability and reduce the need for cars but also create a built-in customer base for local businesses—making them more resilient during seasonal fluctuations.

To make this vision a reality, the city has issued Requests for Proposals (RFPs) for two key parcels of land: a city-owned lot and a lot managed by the Downtown Development Authority (DDA). Jacob confirmed that a number of developers have already expressed interest and have been provided with the RFP materials.

The selection process is both thorough and transparent:

- RFP Issuance
- RFP Submissions Due (Early to Mid-October)
- Administrative/Staff Review
- Interviews with Top Candidates
- Presentation from Top Candidate and Issuance of Intent to Award Letter
- Negotiation Period of Up to Six Months

This structured approach ensures that the city chooses a developer who aligns with its goals and values, and who can deliver a project that meets both housing and economic development objectives.

Ultimately, Fennville's development plan is about more than just buildings. It's about enhancing the quality of life for residents, supporting the local economy, and making the downtown a destination for both visitors and locals.

"As we continue to grow, it's important to keep our focus on creating spaces where people want to live, work, and enjoy themselves," Jacobs emphasized. "Fennville is 'a place to grow,' and this development is the first step in that ongoing journey."

Love INC Allegan County celebrates 25 years

By Gari Voss

Love In the Name of Christ (Love INC) will celebrate their 25th anniversary on Saturday, September 27, 2025, from 4-7pm on the grounds of their Hamilton office at 4621 135th Ave, Hamilton, MI 49419. In addition to music, games, and fun while visiting with friends and neighbors, dinner will be available beginning at 5pm at the Heart to Heart Resale Store that will be open for shopping.

"This is our way to say thank you so much for your service here at Love INC," shared Executive Director Barry Lucas. "For 25 years, now, we've been relying on volunteers to help us do what we do in this community. For 25 years, we've been transforming lives together. That's worth celebrating."

What began with Dr. Virgil Gulker in 1977 in Holland, MI as a desire to meet the needs of neighbors by empowering local churches, has grown beyond Holland's borders. The goal of empowering churches to help people more effectively has resulted in churches coordinating efforts to be more effective and avoid duplicating services. Love INC is now a national movement with over 100 affiliates and thousands of partner churches in many states across the U.S.A. and in Kenya.

Love INC Allegan County provides a holistic approach to match needs with services. The services are provided through local churches. Individuals and families have access to food, clothing, furniture, household goods, and other essential resources. At the same time, programs like LIFE Skills are provided to assist people through education, mentorship, and support for participants to achieve long-term goals.

The organization runs on volunteerism. Ordinary people have talents and skills that can be shared. Love INC assists local churches in identifying the people who can utilize their unique skills and talents to meet needs that are not being properly met in their communities.

"When I look at where Love INC Allegan County has been, where it's at today, and where it's going, I am overcome with gratitude," stated Lucas. "God has led this ministry through so much these past 25 years and laid a firm foundation for His presence in Allegan County. We are blessed to be a part of it."

Lucas can reference not only the resale store in Hamilton, but the 10 Homes for 10 Families Program that has already completed its fourth home. Thus far, 37 volunteers have given 1050 hours of service, 201 of which have been professional hours done by volunteers. Of the 1050 hours, 29 were given by builders, 60 in plumbing, 42 in electrical work, and 70 in drywalling. The 4th home was refurbished by the Overisel Reformed Church and will first serve as a Home of Hope home. It was completed and dedicated to a new family, and the family moved in on August 1, 2025.

Love INC provides training to those who wish to become mentors in the LIFE Skills program. The LIFE Skills program has been a significant element in transforming individuals into becoming self-reliant and moving forward in achieving their life goals. A training to become a Love INC Mentor will be held on September 23, 2025, from 1-2:30pm. Call 269 751-2533 for more information.

To RSVP to the 25th Anniversary Celebration on September 27, 2025, call 269 751-2533 or go to https://loveincnwa.org/event/25years/.

Rascher takes Overisel supervisor's role

By John Raffel
Correspondent

ALLEGAN —Former Allegan County commission chair James Storey reports Lisa Russcher, the veteran Allegan County Farm Bureau board member and former president, has entered the last third of her first year as Overisel township supervisor.

"The mother of five daughters, ranging in age from six to 14, was elected last November to succeed Russ Van Dam who did not seek re-election," Storey said. "Among her goals is to preserve the agricultural, rural character of the township while responding to the needs and requests of township residents.

"She and husband Jeff are part of a 2,000-acre farming operation with Jeff's father and two brothers. He roots in the area are deep. Her mother grew up in the Oakland area of the township, while she grew up in the Hudsonville area. When she and Jeff married, they rented an apartment in Burnips. Among challenges going forward, Russcher cites funding the fire department and helping residents in some areas find water, a shortage situation exasperated by this summer's drought. She notes the county's second attempt to set a water-monitoring well in the county was unsuccessful."

Storey points out Russcher is not the only new member of the township's board.

"Four of the five members are new to township governance, but "the board has been working well together. Though we are a young board, we are cohesive," she said.

Russcher maintains office hours on Tuesdays at the township hall.

Laketown offers revised contract to manager candidate

The Laketown Township Board of Trustees agreed at a special meeting on Tuesday, Sept. 2, 2025, to offer a revised contract to Stephanie Fox to become the township's next manager. The contract comes with an amendment that the board evaluates her performance after 90 days and 6 months in the first year of the contract.

The offer came after board members asked questions about her role in a previous job as administrator of Ionia County and her answers on the job application for the manager position.

Fox challenged negative allegations from former employees and county commissioners, saying her references and employee evaluations show her as professional, calm and a good steward of taxpayer money.

"I like to have a good time. I like to have hard workers but I also want to have a good relationship with all employees," she said.

The final vote on the amended contract was 4-1 with Supervisor Steven Ringelberg opposing the offer.

Stephanie Fox

The proposed contract is for 2 years and sets Fox's annual salary at $110,000 with the possibility of a bonus of up to $15,000 if she meets agreed-upon objectives set by the board in her first 30 days. The proposed contract also includes added vacation days requested by Fox.

The contract states a new manager must start by Oct. 15.

Ringelberg has been handling manager duties since the departure of long-time manager Al Meshkin in January. Ringelberg's contract ends Oct. 31.

Tuesday's meeting was the third interview with Fox who is the current executive assistant to the mayor of the City of Kentwood.

She was chosen as a finalist from a field that started with 45 applicants.

The board voted 4-1 on July 21 to begin contract negotiations with Fox pending a review of her references. Ringelberg was the only "no" vote. Ringelberg said that it was clear to him that Fox's application for the township manager position was not truthful, and for that reason he could not vote in favor of her to be manager.

On and after July 21, the board received additional information regarding Fox, obtained additional records from her time as Ionia County administrator acquired through the Freedom of Information Act, and received phone calls from several Ionia County residents that raised questions about Fox's performance and integrity as Ionia County administrator.

County hosts expungement fair

By John Raffel

James Storey, former Allegan County commission chairman, reports the county's public defender's office with support from the Michigan Attorney General's office and Christian Neighbor hosted an expungement fair on August 18 in Plainwell to help individuals clear a criminal record in accordance with a recently enacted state law.

"The afternoon event counseled 200 Michigan residents on the steps required to have a criminal conviction removed from their record," Storey said. "The purpose of the fair was to assist individuals prepare the paperwork needed to bring an expungement request before a circuit court judge.

"The court is charged with deciding each expungement request in a public hearing. Requests for expungement can be made following a multi-year 'waiting period' depending upon the seriousness of the conviction for which a particular expungement is requested.

"For example, an individual with one felony must wait five years after either completing a sentence, the imposition of a sentence, or being discharged from probation. The length of the waiting period depends upon the seriousness of a misdemeanor or the number of felonies committed."

How to decrease buggy accidents in our communities

MIKE'S MUSINGS

MIKE WILCOX

■ PUBLISHER ■

It happens over and over, an Amish buggy is hit by a car or truck and severe injuries happen to thos in the buggy. Just last week the scene was Clare County, which by the way has had a half dozen such accidents in the last few years. It's a tragedy when it happens and as communities in Michigan we have to do more to prevent such accidents.

Here's my take on why Michigan is seeing so many accidents involving Amish buggies—and what we can do to reduce them:

What's Driving the Increase in Buggy Collisions?

1. Inherent Road Vulnerabilities

• Slow speed + limited visibility: Amish buggies typically travel at only about 5–8 mph—far slower than motor vehicles—which creates dangerous mismatches when drivers misjudge their speed or distance, especially on rural roads with curves and hills.

• Poor nighttime visibility: While safety triangles are required by Michigan law, many buggies lack effective lighting—making them hard to see in low-light areas.

• Minimal protection: Buggies offer no crash protection—no seat belts, airbags, or crash-resistant structure—making collisions especially devastating.

2. Driver Awareness & Behavior

• Driver distraction or impairment: Many of these crashes result from inattentive or impaired driving. In one crash that claimed an 8-year-old's life, the driver was arrested on suspicion of being under the influence.

• Unfamiliarity with buggy laws: Non-Amish drivers often don't realize that horse-drawn buggies are legally categorized as "pedestrians" on Michigan roads, which affects how traffic laws should be approached.

What We Can Do to Prevent These Tragic Crashes

A. Improve Visibility & Buggy Standards

• Boost lighting requirements: Equip buggies with bright front and rear lights, reflectors, blinking lights, and reflective tape. Promote use of high-visibility material where possible.

• Ensure bumper reflectors & triangles: Encourage adherence to existing safety-triangle laws and enhance awareness.

B. Enhance Roadway Infrastructure & Signage

• Add dedicated buggy lanes or wide shoulders: Roads through Amish areas could be redesigned to include safe zones for buggies to travel. This is a great idea, but probably impractical do to costs.

• Install warning signs and reduced-speed zones: Especially near Amish schools and intersections used frequently by buggies. This can and should be done at very little expense. We simply do not have enough buggy warning signs.

C. Promote Education & Community Outreach

• Driver awareness campaigns: Billboards, gas-pump screens, radio spots, and even social media can remind motorists to watch for buggies and slow down. Again we need more awareness and especially billboards would help provide that.

D. Expand Funding & Pilot Programs

• Statewide grants and local initiatives: The $70,000 grant to Branch-Hillsdale-St. Joseph counties is a solid start—targeting a 15 % crash reduction through outreach, enforcement, and infrastructure improvements. It would be nice for the state to provide the same type of grant to other heavily populated Amish areas, such as Clare County.

The recurring tragedy of buggy-car collisions in Michigan's Amish-populated regions is a complex intersection of culture, infrastructure, regulation, and road habits. It is clear, though, that better visibility, stronger community education, thoughtful road design, and legislative support can dramatically lower risks.

By honoring Amish traditions while prioritizing safety, we can protect some of Michigan's most vulnerable road users and avoid heartbreaking losses.

I'm very upset that practically every week I read about another buggy accident. We can do better Michiganders.

Life as Performance Art

G CORWIN STOPPEL

As the story goes, a grandfather was trying to help his young grandson with some history homework for school. The boy was frustrated and asked gramps if he had to study it when he was in school. When the Old said 'yes,' the boy replied, "I'll bet it was easier for you because there wasn't so much of it back in the olden days."

As a short-cut through history, one of the things we often do is make some comparisons situations or events to the past, both good and bad. We also will look at a modern figure and make a favorable or unfavorable comparison to someone out of the past. It is a way of attempting to better understand our own world. In part, we do it because with the passage of time our memories get distorted, and things don't appear to be as bad as they were when they happened. In a greater part, however, we do it because we want to see if we can predict what will happen in the future. That is because we believe the phrase, history repeats itself.'

In a television interview professor of ancient history at Cambridge University, Mary Beard, warns it is a very dangerous thing to compare a contemporary leader with someone out of the past. She believes we usually get it wrong. Then, halfway through interview in late August, she was asked which Roman emperor was most like President Trump, she laughed and spilled the proverbial beans.

No, he is not at all like the well-known trio of wicked emperors: Caligula, Claudius, Nero.

There were several more, but none of them are as well-known as the Big Three. However, even they are small potatoes compared to her favorite bad boy. Professor Beard said we should consider a comparison between President Trump and Emperor Sextus Varius Avitus Bassianus. He is better known by his nickname, Elagabus. Suffice to know that this was not a term of endearment. I had never heard of him, so that led to a few wonderful hours of research.

Elagabus was from an important Syrian family that had close connections with many of the emperors. However, no one expected very much of him, and for the first years of his life he was shuffled off to serving as a priest of the Syrian sun god. He was not yet a teenager when, thanks to the right connections and his very pushy Aunt Julia, he was made the chief priest of the cult.

Four years later, his aunt Julia engineered a coup to overthrow the emperor Caracalla and may have had a direct knife hand in assassinating him. A fairly incompetent man, and not a member of the Senate, Macrinus became the new emperor. He managed the one accomplishment no other emperor could claim: he never once visited Rome. Instead, he preferred to stay out in the in the country, making his courtiers come to him. Then again, perhaps the reasons he did not visit Rome was that the royal coffers had been completely drained by Caracalla, and there was no money to pay for a state visit. Military parades and banquets are expensive, as we know.

He attempted to reform the imperial finances but got nowhere, and when his ideas threatened the financial well-being of the lethal Julia, she promptly organized another assassination. By this time her nephew Elagabus was fourteen years old, and she stage-managed things to make him the emperor.

If Elagabus was out of his depths as the chief priest of a religion, he was all the more so as emperor of the great Roman Empire. The young man completely lacked the one important personality trait for all Romans: 'gravitas' which is Latin for seriousness. His downfall began when he rejected the ancient Roman pantheon of deities. In a great ceremonial procession into the city, he brought the BAETYL stone (probably a meteorite) which members of his religious cult proclaimed to be the house of the god. To nobility and peasant alike, it was as if he announced, here is your new god, of whom you nothing, that you WILL worship. To compound his inauspicious beginning, he ordered all of the Senators, their families, and the leading citizens of Rome to participate in the cult's rituals.

Then, he made matters worse. With his hormones in overdrive and seeing the entire empire as his personal playground, he married one of the vestal virgins. For centuries, such an act was unthinkable. Just to engage in a bit of canoodling with a Vestal Virgin was a capital offense, but Elagabus justified it by saying he and Vestal Virgin Aquilla Severa would have beautiful "god-like babies.'

He soon divorced her, and then married three more wives in quick succession, lavished expensive gifts of male courtesans, and went so far as to work as a prostitute in some of the city's brothels.

His personal life aside, Elagabus went on a vendetta against his enemies. Many of them were executed in retribution for some real or alleged offense, or so their wealth could be legally confiscated by the emperor. He appointed unknown individuals to high office, removed senior officers in the Praetorian Guard, and then, when no one cautioned him to be more discreet, he made his aunt, Julia, and another woman a Senator. To demonstrate his power to do whatever he chose to do, he had their likenesses put on the obverse side of gold coins. Once that was done, he entitled his aunt "Mother of the Army Camp," and then debased the purity of gold and silver coins by at least 5 %, thus doing tremendous damage to the national economy when the currency was devalued and inflation soared.

To demonstrate his unlimited power, on one occasion the emperor invited guests to a banquet. All of them had either expressed their doubts about his ability to rule or had not very discreetly opposed him. The dinner was served, and then a trickle of rose petals came down from the ceiling. Soon the trickle became a deluge that panicked his guests, all the more so when they could not escape. According to legend, all of them suffocated under the weight of the flowers.

True story or not, the whispering campaign soon got out of hand. Elagabus made matters all the worse with his strange religious practices, including making the Senators watch as he danced naked around the Baetyl rock, then announced circumcision would be required on the spot. In short, there was no end in sight to his audacity.

Realizing that Elagabus was a danger to the empire, his grandmother Julia (another lethal woman by the same name) made arrangements to be rid of him. The emperor and his mother (yet another woman named Julia) were lured into an ambush, and upon her signal, grandmother and the Praetorian Guard pulled out their daggers and killed the emperor and mother. Aunt Julia was whacked a short time later. He was barely eighteen years old when he was murdered. Their heads were hacked off and paraded through the streets of Rome, their bodies stripped and thrown into the Tiber River, and that was the end of them.

Almost immediately, the Senate, the emperor, and Praetorian Guard set about to erase the name of Elabalus, under the ancient tradition of damnatio memoria. Every public record of him, every likeness of his face, was removed; every statue pulled down and broken.

As I wrote at the beginning, Professor Beard makes a good point when she advised against trying to compare contemporary politicians and leaders with their ancient counterparts.

Road Commission Delays Threaten Pullman's $300,000 Sidewalk and Trail Grant

Dear Editor:

Beautify Pullman has spent over two years working to make Pullman safer and more accessible by creating a plan for sidewalks and multiuse trails for our residents. To date, our nonprofit has already invested $65,000 from grants, donations, and community fundraising into this project, partnering with the respected planning firm Abonmarche Consultants to design a plan that reflects the needs of our community. For the past 16 months, we have worked diligently with Pullman Elementary School on a Safe Routes to School (SRTS) grant that would bring $300,000 in infrastructure funding to Pullman. This project has overwhelming support from residents and would benefit the many children, families, and seniors who rely on walking and bicycling to get around Pullman.

From the very beginning, the Allegan County Road Commission has been involved in this process. Chairman Larry Brown and Managing Director Craig Atwood were included on all correspondence, invited to every meeting, and were participants throughout. On July 28, Mr. Atwood was at a meeting to review the grant application in full detail, leaving ample time for all partners to complete their responsibilities before the October 1 submission deadline.

Yet on Monday, September 8, we were told by Mr. Atwood that the Allegan County Road Commission cannot complete their portion in the three weeks remaining. This delay jeopardizes the entire project and risks wasting more than a year of hard work and collaboration. If the grant is not submitted on time, we lose our chance at this vital funding and must start over from scratch—something our small nonprofit cannot afford to do alone.

The construction of sidewalks and trails along county roads is not a courtesy—it is the road commission's responsibility to manage and support infrastructure that serves the public. The residents of Pullman deserve a road commission that acts in the public's interest, not one that allows needless delay to put critical funding at risk.

We urge the Allegan County Road Commission to work with us and the Pullman community to ensure this vital project moves forward on time for the benefit of everyone.

Sincerely,
The Beautify Pullman

YouTube channel for Plainwell City Council meetings

Dear Editor:

I would like the Plainwell City Council to record the bi-monthly council meetings and post them to a You Tube channel for residents to view beginning with the October 20th, 2025 meeting. The city already has the sound system needed for the recordings, a YouTube channel/account is FREE!. YouTube can be viewed, by you, 24 hours a day/seven days a week. You can be informed about city issues on your time vs. attending the meetings in person at City Hall on first and third Mondays at 7 PM.

Do you know which construction company the city chose to build the river front condominiums? Do you know the time frame of the building and when the single family homes are envisioned to be built? Do you know which of the council members best align with your beliefs? If we have a City of Plainwell YouTube channel available you can view these meetings and know the answers to these questions.

I am a resident of Plainwell and proposed this idea at the July 7 city council meeting. Two of the city council members were supportive of the five members at the meeting. I need your help to show at least one more of the remaining council members you would like to have this resource available. I would like to forward your message of support to the council members, please email me at: loisheuchert269@gmail.com today.

If you would like to email the council members yourself see their email addresses on the city website. If you don't currently use YouTube ask your children, grandchildren, or a neighbor to show you how to access this exciting communication tool. To see what a City Council meeting looks like on YouTube search: @CityofBattleCreekMichigan on your YouTube Channel. They have 1,000 subscribers! Many more cities use YouTube, use the search feature to see many more around the world who post their meetings.

I ask you to show your support today by emailing me that you want our city council meeting available on YouTube today by emailing me at loisheuchert269@gmail.com. You can stay informed about city issues on your time by having the City Council Meetings on the YouTube platform.

Letters to the editor

Governmental Activities

Dear Editor:

The time has come to be keenly aware of how the government is being run, and how it affects everyday citizens no matter what political party one favors. Some are most disturbing while others are a means of distraction from real issues.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics are not and can not be rigged. New jobs are computed by new jobs created minus jobs lost. The accusation by Trump of inflated numbers for the Biden Administration and sabotaging the Trump Administration are meritless.

The Bureau Chief collects information from top economist and business CEO's coast to coast, and has zero input into the process. It is the chairperson's job and duty to collect the data given to her and inform the pubic of their findings. If President Trump wanted to illegally change the numbers he would have to fire hundreds of economic experts nationwide. It was a ridiculous move to reiterate baseless and untrue stances. It was yet another example of distraction of the economy, chaos of the tariff trade war, and the Epstein scandal. A truly innocent person would have no problem releasing the Epstein files.

The following is coming from the President of the United States on the economy. Trump said he has struck deals with over 200 countries despite the fact that there are not 200 countries in the world (195 countries worldwide). Do you still believe this malarkey?

Trump bragged in a speech that he reduced drug prices by 1500%. If that was the case and a person purchasing a drug costing $100, they would get the drug free and receive a stipend for $1400 also. How can anybody believe this? It shows that the President does not understand basic math or is not being truthful (lying).

The Wall Street Journal sent out a warning in an op-ed titled "The Trump Economy Stumbles". The newspapers conservative leaning board said the "Trumphalalism" (new term) is palpable in MAGA land, but this weeks job report and the economy suggest the new golden age is far off and most likely a dream. The board pointed out: 1. sluggish hiring, 2. sluggish revival of the promised manufacturing which is shrinking not gaining, 3. the only way to stop the bleeding, according to the Wall Street Journal, is to stop the trade war, 4. a large portion of the U.S. manufacturing workforce are foreign-born and the risk of being deported even though most are U.S. citizens with no criminal history is heavy on their minds. This is no way to treat our hard working U.S. citizens.

Other issues of the day: Robert Kennedy Jr. cancelled $500 million dollars worth of vaccine development projects using n RNA technology. This will effect companies lie Pfister and Moderna. This also includes stopping research for the Covid 19 and flu vaccines. Kennedy said he wanted to invest in better solutions, but could not name any. It is just anti-vaccines that during his confirmation hearing said he would not do. Is there a lie here?

Now Kennedy is being sued as he does not have the authority to unilaterally direct an agency to drop Covid 19 or flu vaccines. The lawsuit is being brought by the American Academy of Pediatrics and the American College of Physicians.

The takeover of Washington D.C. shows the dictatorial attitude that persists. Prior to the takeover Trump cut $20 million dollars for security issues in Washington D.C. I guess they did not need the already low violent rate funds. What a joke that is not funny. Some facts to consider:

1. Homicides, robberies, and violent crimes have plummeted 26%. Crime is at a 30 year low.

2. Trump and his enablers are lying about the crime rate in D.C.,

3. Trump said other cities the NYC are next. Believe him no matter how crazy it sounds. This is just another distraction from the Epstein scandal that is hurting citizens.

The fact of meeting with cruel dictator Putin on American soil is disgusting. It gives Putin credibility which looks like will delight Trump. We have a totally uninformed leader that Putin will make him look foolish and in the process embarrass our country. We need to support Ukraine who was attacked by Russian military forces. There has been an attempt to withhold military support by the present administration which in essence is supporting Russia who is responsible for many crimes against humanity.

Some of the latest anti-democratic happenings include Trump taking editorial power over the Smithsonian Museum Exhibits. This includes 21 museums, 21 libraries, and a zoo. This eliminates freedom of speech, especially troublesome as Trump moves to rewrite history which is a lie. Totally autocratic and fascist. Can you imagine what will be done to African American History and Culture. How about History and Culture of the American Indian (Native Americans). The Smithsonian has always been non-partisan which Trump and his enablers refuse to accept.

Trump has hidden Barack Obama, George H.W. Bush, and George W. Bush's portraits out of public view. How childish for a sitting president. Gavin Newsome had a perfect response: "Small men hide from history's giants".

This is in response to Ms. Mary Scholten who claims facts from Democrats and those attempting to hold politicians accountable are false. Everything written in this letter to the editor is factual. Many Republican's information is coming from Fox News which is unlicensed and are not required to be truthful. ABC, NBC, CBS, New York Times, Wall Street Journal and many other newspapers must provide proof in their reporting. The TDS mentioned in the critical letter I had to look up. It is a Telecom news agency. While looking it up what TDS meant there was another description which was Trump Dysfunctional Syndrome (I do not know where this originated from).

I would like to be more positive, but I do not see much in the news as of late that is helping average American citizens.

Post Script: Internationally The United States has been put on a list of countries where there is a prospect of democracy departure. Nothing to be proud of!

Faces in the Crowd

By G C Stoppel

Robert F Kennedy is the United States Secretary for Health and Human Services, and has some unique and non-traditional views of vaccines, food, medicine, and a strong desire to Make America Healthy Again - his way. This week's question: Your thoughts on him and what he is accomplishing?

-Woman at Fennville hardware store: "Who? I've heard the name, but I don't know anything about him other than his voice is strange."

-Friend with her: "Oh, that guy! I think he's somehow related to President Kennedy, but I'm not certain."

-Woman near the Fennville grocery store: "I think he might be all right. He's a bit odd, but he's got some solid ideas about eating healthy food, doing the right thing to stay in shape, and things like that. Now, here's a fun fact I want to share. President Kennedy found an old document that President Teddy Roosevelt wanted army officers to be in shape to walk 50 miles in one day. I guess being healthy runs in their family."

-Couple near the Blue Goose; Man: Him and the President know what they're doing. I trust 'em both, especially when it comes to vaccines." Wife nodded in agreement, looks at her husband and then added. "Just not that get in shape idea, I guess."

-Woman near the Allegan Public Library: "You want my opinion. I'll tell you what I think. This Kennedy is a nut. That's what I think. And his good buddy, Senator Paul Rand, is just as big a doofus."

-Woman near the A-Tech offices: "I don't believe much of what he says, and I don't trust him, but he gives us something to think about. Maybe regular medicine isn't all it's cracked up to be. I don't know."

-Man near the Huntington Bank: "Kennedy and Trump are opposed to vaccines. The way I figure it, it's because it would cost money, so they don't want to do it. My brother wouldn't get the Covid shots, and we both came down with it. I got the shots and boosters, and I'm here. My brother didn't and he died. All because he listened to Trump instead of someone with some brains."

Allegan County Fair Booths display theme and more

By Gari Voss

Traversing the industrial buildings at the Allegan County Fair can bring some real treasures. The Agricultural Building is sometimes only considered when wondering about the weight and size of the largest pumpkin. But for those who stroll through, a delightful treasure is in the large and small booths that have been decorated not only to present the theme of the fair but the values of the group.

This year's fair these is "Shine & Show Through September's Glow". The booths definitely display their shine and their values all year round. Whether the decorations are as simple as Camp Kidwell with campers enjoying an evening campfire or as elaborate as Camp Kidwell's Festival of Trees, each booth tells a story about the organization. The careful visitor will be hard pressed to see every detail in each booth while admire the creativity of the hands that organized the scene.

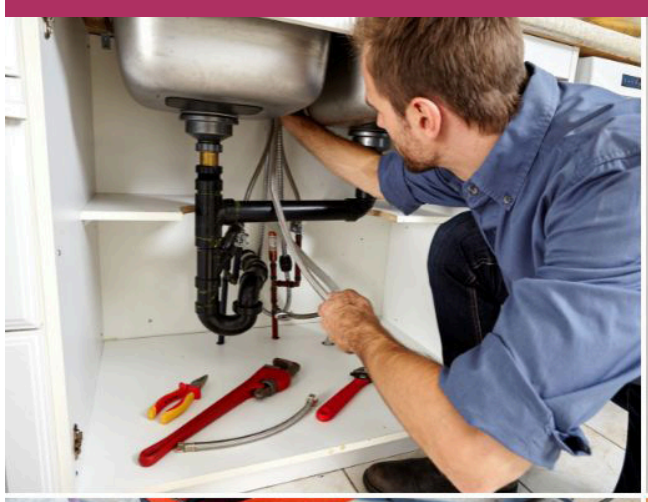
The Allegan County Medical Care Community used a small booth to display the 2025 County Fair and the relationships that they build while caring for residents and those on short stay rehabilitation. Photo: G. Voss

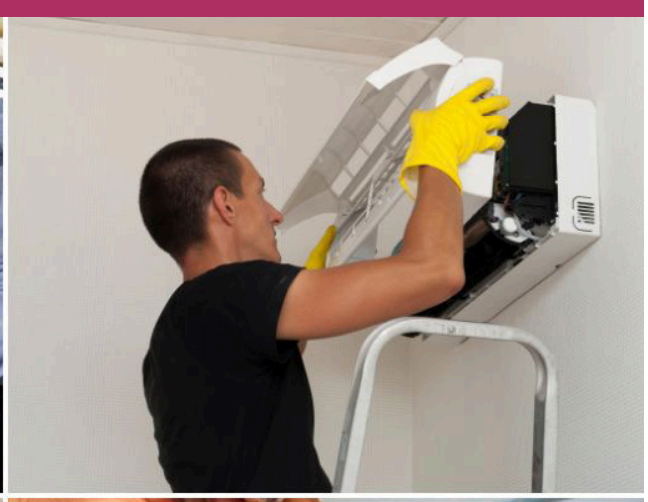
Camp Kidwell's Festival of Trees took first place in the large booths with a wonderful reminder that September will soon shine and glow into December. The first weekend of December, camp turns into a Winter Wonderland with trees, wreaths, and holiday decor. Photo G. Voss

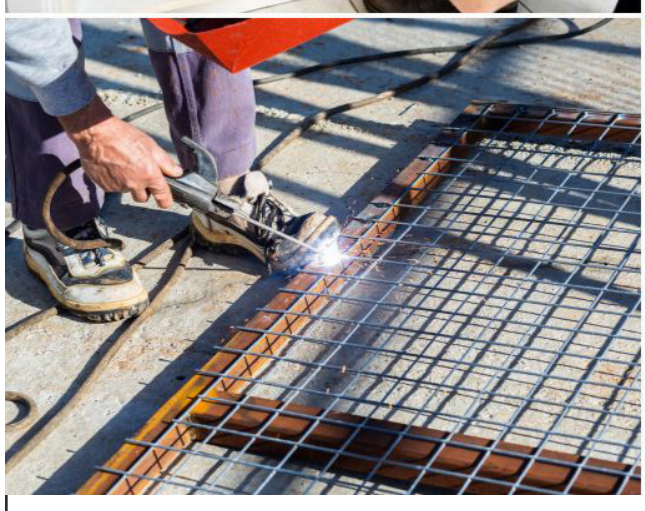
The Allegan County Government's large booth shone a light on the excitement of the fair while highlighting the many areas of government that work the departments do to keep the county safe and thriving for its residents and visitors. Photo: G. Voss

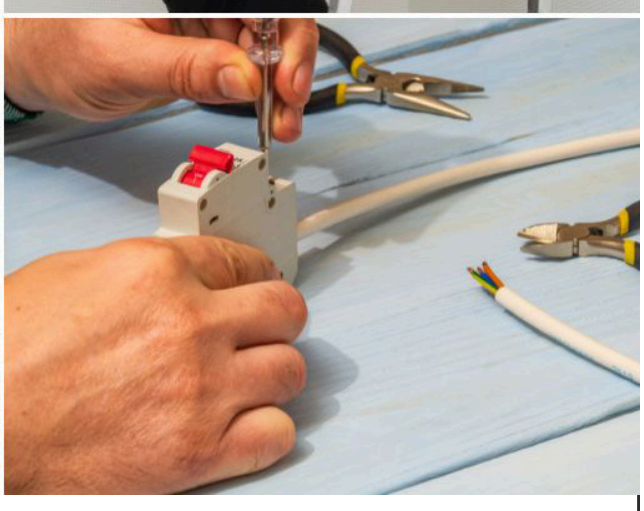
Allegan County's Help Me Grow reminded visitors of the beauty of childhood and how our children can be nurtured to shine and glow through a variety of activities and positive interactions with the adults in their lives. Photo: G. Voss

COMMUNITY SPOTLIGHT









Skilled Trades

The Backbone of Allegan County

From the shores of Lake Michigan to the fields and factories that drive the economy, Allegan County runs on the work of skilled tradespeople. Carpenters, welders, electricians, plumbers, millwrights, machinists, mechanics, and many others are more than workers. They are the backbone of our communities.

Local companies depend on the steady hands and sharp minds of skilled workers, who also touch everyday life. A plumber in Wayland makes sure a family has safe drinking water. An electrician in Otsego restores power after a storm. A mechanic in Hopkins keeps farm equipment running during harvest season. And a welder in Douglas keeps boats and harbors in top shape for the busy summer season. Each project looks different, but together they reflect the same values: pride, precision, and service to neighbors.

For those just starting out, the future is full of possibilities. Young people entering the trades can gain hands-on experience, develop valuable skills, and build careers that offer both stability and satisfaction. With so many experienced workers retiring in the coming years, there is a real need for the next generation to step in. These careers provide more than a paycheck; they offer the chance to contribute directly to the community, solve real-world problems, and take pride in work that is visible, meaningful, and lasting.

Many would say that their contributions are undervalued, but not here at Allegan County News, Commercial Record, and Union Enterprise. Today, we and the fine community-oriented businesses below salute them, not only for what they build, but for the lasting impact they leave on the place we all call home. The men and women in the skilled trades keep our communities safe, strong, and moving forward.

New era dawns for Wayland athletics with stadium upgrade

By Andrea Philipp

Under bright new stadium lights and atop fresh synthetic turf, Wayland Union High School has officially ushered in a new era of athletics. The long-awaited renovation of the Wildcat Stadium is complete — a major investment in student opportunity, community engagement, and school pride.

After years of planning and several months of construction, the revamped facility was unveiled this fall to much anticipation. The centerpiece is a state-of-the-art artificial turf field, replacing the uneven, weather-dependent natural grass that had long defined the stadium. The upgrade not only brings aesthetic appeal, but also year-round usability for football, soccer, marching band, and community events.

The new field is multi-lined for both football and soccer, ensuring that a wider range of teams and age groups can utilize the space. The artificial surface reduces long-term maintenance costs and allows for greater scheduling flexibility throughout the school year.

Another significant addition to the stadium is a modern LED lighting system. The previous lights were outdated and prone to failure; the new system offers brighter, more energy-efficient illumination while reducing light spill into the surrounding neighborhood. With this change, Wayland can now confidently host night games and community events without the safety or visibility concerns of the past.

Windemuller, a local electrical contractor, led the lighting project, installing four new steel poles, advanced play clocks, and updated sound and electrical infrastructure. The improvement ensures that athletes and fans alike will enjoy a more immersive and reliable game-day experience.

Beyond the field, spectators will notice several facility-wide improvements designed to enhance comfort and accessibility. Home and visitor bleachers have been refurbished, concessions and restrooms updated, and a new PA system installed. The stadium's track also received a much-needed resurfacing, making it suitable again for track and field competitions.

"This was more than just a turf project — it was about creating a complete experience," said Superintendent Tim Reeves. "We wanted a facility that reflects the pride and excellence of our students, and something the entire community could be proud of."

The $8.3 million renovation project was funded through a capital improvement bond passed by voters in 2021. The community's overwhelming support allowed the district to move forward with confidence, even amidst the logistical challenges brought on by the COVID-19 pandemic.

Construction was overseen by project management firm LeftField, with design input from Weston & Sampson and field installation by Heimlich Landscape & Construction. Each firm worked closely with the district to keep the project on time and on budget.

In addition to student athletics, the stadium will also serve as a central gathering space for the broader Wayland community. From youth sports leagues and summer camps to graduation ceremonies and evening walks on the track, the stadium is being reimagined as more than a high school asset — it's a community cornerstone.

"We're proud of what we've built," said Reeves. "And we're even more excited about what it will help our kids build — on the field, in the classroom, and beyond."

Martin's Conley takes top honors at Fennville Open

By Jason Wesseldyk
Sports Editor

FENNVILLE—Martin junior Veyda Conley continued the strong start to her cross country season at the Fennville Open on at Fenn Valley Winery on Saturday, Sept. 6.

Finishing with a time of 19:44, Conley collected the win to lead the Clippers to a third-place finish with 67 points.

Martin was only one point behind Niles, while Edwardsburg won the event with 63 points. Fennville placed fourth with 93 points, while Allegan was seventh with 144 points.

"Veyda ran a strong race," Martin coach Kristin Evers said. "She has had a lot of success early in the season, setting a new school record already a couple of weeks ago."

Allison Rodgers (11th at 23:17), DuRae Sage (17th at 23:50), Riley Bender (19th at 23:54) and Sara Schipper (20th at 23:57) also scored for Martin.

"The team was very competitive," Evers said. "Allie Rodgers is a strong, consistent second runner on the team with freshman Riley Bender solidifying herself in our top five.

"One strength we have is that our second through fifth runners tend to finish with very little time between them. One goal we have as a team is to move one or two runners into the gap between our first and second runners."

Fennville junior Isabelle Sliter placed runner-up with a time of 20:10.

Also scoring for the Blackhawks were Nidia Villalobos (18th at 23:50), Marisol Diaz (23rd at 23:59), Samantha Giles (25th at 24:07) and Martiza Rosas (30th at 24:51).

Senior Jayden VanDenAkker led Allegan, placing fifth at 22:00.

"I really pleased with Jayden finishing fifth," Allegan coach Paula Chalupa said. "I can't wait to see what she can do when she gets into shape."

In the boys race, Allegan had the best team showing, placing sixth with 141 points. Fennville and Martin tied for seventh with 176 points, but the Blackhawks got the seventh place and the Clippers finished eighth based on the finish of each team's sixth runner.

Individually, Allegan junior Kellen Chalupa led the way for area teams by placing seventh at 17:07. Freshman teammate Thomas Sigler joined him in the top 10, placing 10th at 17:55.

Jaciel Ruiz led Fennville with a 17th-place finish at 18:55, while Martin's Jadon Dettman (20th at 18:56) and Gari Salvador-Garcia (23rd at 19:16) also placed in the top 30.

"This is the first summer that we have had a group of runners putting in dedicated miles week in and week out," Evers said of the Martin boys team. "We are starting to see the benefits of this.

"Jadon Dettmann has become a consistent, first runner for the team. His times are trending down, and he is running the 18's for the first time."

Blackhawks post comeback victory over Trailblazers

By Jason Wesseldyk
Sports Editor

FENNVILLE—The volleyball match between archrivals Fennville and Saugatuck didn't start exactly the way Blackhawks coach Rebecca Hughes had hoped.

Saugatuck took an early lead in the opening game and never looked back in securing the 25-17 win.

"The rivalry between Fennville and Saugatuck always brings a heightened mental intensity to this match," Hughes said. "In our pre-game huddle, I addressed this directly. I told the girls, 'I know this is Saugatuck, and I know we tend to get in our heads when we play them. But I also know what you're capable of, so go out there and play the way I know you can.'

"Despite that message, we struggled in the first set."

But the remainder of the match went much better for the Blackhawks, who regrouped to win the next three games and claim the 17-25, 25-22, 25-21, 25-17 victory.

"I think several factors contributed to our slow start," Hughes said. "We hadn't played a match in over a week, we had only two practices since the break and both our outside hitter and setter are rehabbing shoulder injuries.

"But give credit to Saugatuck. They played scrappy defense and made us work hard to put the ball away."

When it came to putting the ball away, Lily Achterhof led the charge for Fennville.

Achterhof finished with a team-best seven kills. She also led the way with 13 digs and seven aces—she served 100 percent—to go with three assists.

Ceeley Howard and MacKenzie McIlwain added five and four kills, respectively, while Marynn Winne chipped in with three.

Winne also had nine digs, Howard had five digs and McIlwain had nine digs and 21 assists.

"I'm really proud of the girls for their resilience and perseverance," Hughes said. "They may have started slow, but they dug in, stayed focused and earned the win."

First-year Saugatuck coach Christina Lewis was also pleased with the effort she received from her team.

"Overall, I'm really proud of how we played," she said. "The girls are coming together and working as a true unit.

"All week we focused on refining our individual positions and communicating to help everything align, and that really showed on the court. The girls played hard and kept their energy up the entire game. Unfortunately, we just weren't able to seal the deal with a win."

Natalia Laskowski and Ashlyn O'Neill tied for team-high honors with six kills, followed by Emma Gosler and Jocelyn Johnson with three each. Laskowski also had a team-topping 17 digs, which was one better than Gabbie Cochran's 16.

Jocelyn Johnson served up three aces, with Penny Grob and Emma Gosler each finishing with two.

"Once again, freshman Gabbie Cochran anchored the back row with stellar defense, and freshman Jocelyn Johnson is beginning to shine as a middle hitter, adding excellent serving as well," Lewis said.

Fennville also beat Berrien Springs, securing a 2-0 victory at home on Thursday, Sept. 4.

Villalobos starred for the Blackhawks, finishing with a goal and an assist. Josue Bahena accounted for the other goal, while Salinas picked up an assist.

Derek Arredondo made four saves in goal for the shutout.

The Allegan boys tennis team hosted the Gary Ellis Invitational on Saturday, Sept. 6, placing third in the four-team field with 10 points.

Unity Christian took top honors with 22 points, while Traverse City West was second with 12 points. Battle Creek Lakeview placed fourth with four points.

Allegan had to shuffle its lineup, with subs at No. 1, No. 2 and No. 4 doubles.

"We had a unique lineup, but we battled with the bigger schools and almost came away as runner-up," Allegan coach Damien Arthur said. "There were lots of positives from today, and we're looking forward to what we can do in our upcoming matches."

No. 2 singles Ezra Smith accounted for the Tigers' lone flight championship. He went 3-0, including a 4-6, 6-1, 14-12 marathon win over TC West.

No. 3 singles Carson Woodhams and No. 1 doubles Wesley Goodspeed/Oliver Burnett were flight runners-up.

On Thursday, Sept. 4, Allegan hosted South Haven and won 7-1.

HAMILTON—The Hamilton girls swim & dive team hosted Allegan and Otsego for a tri-meet on Thursday, Sept. 4.

The Hawkeyes posted wins over Otsego (124-54) and Allegan (136-31), while Otsego bested Allegan 109-44.

Hamilton took top honors in 10 of the 12 events. Those wins came from: the 200 yard medley relay team of Marisa Patmos, Billie Lucas, Adi Garvelink and Paige Kleinheksel (2:05.78); the 200 free relay team of Kleinheksel, Nora VandenBerg, Keira Volkers, Alyssa Volkers (1:48.01); the 400 free relay team of Keira Volkers, Alyssa Volkers, VandenBerg and Garvelink (4:01.94); Alyssa Volkers in the 200 free (2:01.4) and the 500 free (5:27.44); Garvelink in the 200 IM (2:27.54) and the 100 breaststroke (1:15.21); Keira Volkers in the 50 free (26.59) and the 100 free (58.88); and Josi Popma in diving (226.05).

Otsego had the other two event wins, as Hope Stender won the 100 fly (1:05.28) and Aubrey Smith won the 100 back (1:10.07).

The Bulldogs also had seven runner-up finishes.

"It was a great meet for us," Otsego coach Darryl Belton said. "We are young and inexperienced, but the girls are working very hard and everything seems to be coming together.

"The leadership has been great and my captains—Hope Stender, Bella Xenos, Laney Sweet and Alyssa Long—have been fantastic.

"All three of our divers were awesome Thursday and this was their first competition. I really believe that this team is going to be handful by the end of the season."

For Allegan, Eliza DeLaet had the best showing, placing second in the 100 fly (1:05.97) and third in the 200 IM (2:34.24).

Martin volleyball team picks up victories

KALAMAZOO—The Martin volleyball team traveled to Comstock High School for a quad meet on Tuesday, Sept. 2, and came home with a 2-1 record.

The Clippers beat Bloomingdale (25-17, 25-13) and West Michigan Aviation (25-15, 25-19), with a loss to Comstock (20-25, 25-21, 25-20) sandwiched in between.

"Our goal is always competing with the competition," Martin coach Shannon Goddard said. "We struggled with serve receive a little bit during the Comstock match and that unfortunately is all it took to throw us off a little."

Torryn Harris had 37 assists to pace Martin, while Mackenzie Schwartz led with 20 kills and was tied for second with 14 digs. Anna Jager, Kendra Goddard and Marybeth Ritchie led in the serving department with 12, 10 and nine aces, respectively.

Martin headed to Lawton on Thursday, Sept. 4, and posted a 25-16, 25-19, 25-15 win.

"We played from behind in all three sets, showing the grit we have to not give up," Shannon Goddard said.

Schwartz led with nine kills, while Harris had 17 assists and Kendra Goddard had 12 digs.

Two days later, the Clippers participated in Ottawa Hills Tournament and placed second out of 12 teams with a 5-2 record.

"Our coaches are extremely proud of these girls and their drive to come back multiple times throughout the day to pull the win out and they're eager to play these bigger schools to push themselves," Shannon Goddard said.

Girls Cross Country Season Preview

ALLEGAN

Allegan senior Jayden VandenAkker has made a name for herself as a hurdler on the track team, as she has multiple All-State performances to her credit.

But she's also a strong distance runner, as evidenced by her contributions to the Allegan cross country team the past two years.

"I'm hoping she can make improvements this year, stay healthy and be a contender for state meet," Allegan coach Paula Chalupa said.

VandenAkker leads a small squad for the Tigers.

"I am happy to have six girls on the team and to be able to compete as a team," Chalupa said.

Fellow returning seniors Isabella Giovannucci and Hydee Herron join VandenAkker on the team.

"Bella is a tough runner that is always battling a hip injury," Chalupa said. "I see great things for her if she can stay healthy.

"Hydee brings great personality to the team and is a hard worker. I am happy she is competing her senior year."

Sophomore Anna Billman—called a "gutsy runner" by Chalupa—rounds out the returning athletes.

Seniors Kylee Jaco and Jenna Johnson are new to the team.

"Kylee and Jenna have never run competitively, but are very strong and accomplished dancers," Chalupa said. "Their positive attitudes and smiles are very welcomed on the team."

MARTIN

Last year marked a milestone for Martin, as the girls team placed second at regionals to qualify for the Division 4 State Finals for the first time in program history.

With several key contributors from last year back along with some talented newcomers, Martin coach Kristin Evers is hoping for more of the same this year.

"Building on what we did last year, we have goals this year to be a top contender in the SAC and also improve on our 16th place finish at the state meet," Evers said.

Junior Veyda Conley leads the charge for the Clippers. The fastest runner in program history, Conley is looking to repeat her All-State performance from a year ago.

Also back are fellow juniors Kayden Jager and Sara Schipper along with sophomores Allison Rodgers and Durae Sage.

"We only had one varsity runner graduate last year, so a lot of our team members are returning," Evers said. "That includes Veyda, who has been All-State the last two years."

The freshmen duo of Riley Bender and Emma Dettmann join senior exchange student Alice Kadlecova as the newcomers.

It's a group Evers believes has the potential to be very good.

"The SAC is a large and competitive conference," Evers said. "We finished sixth at the conference championship last year. We would like to improve on that and feel like that is an obtainable goal."

Conley was First-Team All-Conference last year, while Rodgers was All-Conference Honorable Mention.

OTSEGO

Otsego enters the season with a streak of 12 consecutive Wolverine Conference championships and four straight regional titles.

With 10 returning runners—including senior Emma Hoffman, who has twice finished runner-up at the State Finals—back to go with a group of talented freshmen, Otsego coach Steve Long sees no reason why those streaks can't continue.

"This is a really fun group of girls," he said. "They work hard, have a lot of fun and have high goals. We'll look to continue our streak conference championships and win a fifth consecutive regional crown and we want to be in that conversation for a state title."

Senior Rebekah Stachura joins Hoffman as a returning athlete, as do juniors Skylar Mejeur, Sydney Timmons, Makenna Leonard and Maddie Goodwin and sophomores Ava Bentley, Zayla Clark and Sydney Miller.

"Coming off an undefeated track season, Emma leading the way for us is a huge advantage," Long said. "And we're 7-8-9 runners deep. This is a hard-working group that likes to have fun."

In the conference, Long views Sturgis and Plainwell as other strong teams.

"This is a really fun group of girls," Long said. "Even if we don't win any meets, it's going to be a really fun year."

PLAINWELL

Staying healthy.

That, according to Plainwell coach Brett Beier, is his team's biggest goal for the season.

"We don't have the depth this year that we've had in the past—having graduating three of the top seven last year—so keeping everyone on the course is goal number one this season," he said.

Despite the losses to graduation, the Trojans do have seven returning runners this season. That includes sophomore Mai Nguyen and senior Josie Longcore, who were state qualifiers last year.

"While we lost some valuable girls to graduation, we have a very strong core back, including Mai and Josie," Beier said. "We also have an amazing team leader in Gwen Todd, who has helped spearhead our summer workouts for the past couple summers."

Todd joins Longcore as the team's seniors.

Also back are juniors Brooke Carpenter and Megan VanDyke along with sophomores Molly Bruggink and Samantha Corbin.

Freshman Fiona Ryan and exchange student Franka Meier round out the roster.

It's a group Beier believes has the ability to finish in the top half of the Wolverine Conference standings.

"As always—I've said this every season I've coached—Otsego is the team to beat, not just in the conference, but they should be in the running for a state title as well," Beier said. "Sturgis is also going to be tough, and the experience their girls got in winning a state title in track in the spring is going to be valuable.

"I feel like we should slot in around the second to fourth spots, with Edwardsburg showing some strong results early this season."

SAUGATUCK

Saugatuck enters the season with high expectations.

"As long as we can all stay healthy and focused, our goals are to win the SAC, win our region and do some damage in the top three at the (Division 4) State Finals," Saugatuck coach Angelina Bauer said.

"The competition will be very tough, but this team has put into the work, so we are taking things one week at a time and just trying to enjoy the ride. Any successes will be a byproduct of their hard work and teamwork."

A group of five returning runners leads the way for the Trailblazers.

Senior Alina Martinson joins juniors Lyvia Curtis and Kamryn Sixberry as well as sophomores Stella Blubaugh and Rain Kalleward to comprise that group.

"This team has worked their butts off, led by Lyvia, Kamryn, Savanah and Alina," Bauer said. "We are looking forward to seeing what we can really do."

Senior Savanah VanDenBerg, sophomore Kayden Birkholz and the freshmen trio of Ryann Monroe, Ellyse Heyser and Abbey Gorman add depth.

"We have one of the strongest veteran groups we have ever seen, but we also have a very new team as well," Bauer said. "We are half and half—exactly half are experienced cross country athletes and exactly half are new to high school cross country."

It's a group Bauer hopes can get Saugatuck back to the top of the SAC standings for the first time in four years.

Prior to that, the Trailblazers had won 13 straight league crowns.

"Gobles and Kalamazoo Hackett will be looking pretty tough, but we're looking to reclaim a title this year," Bauer said.

"We have big goals but have committed to living in the moment and enjoying our journey together while keeping our end goals in mind."

WAYLAND

As she enters her first season as head coach in Wayland, Nikki Hoogewind knows there will be a learning curve for her team.

Of the seven runners on the roster, five are new to the sport.

Rather than view this lack of experience as a negative, however, Hoogewind is instead choosing to focus on the potential each of her runners possesses.

"We are luck to have five athletes who are new to the sport of cross country join the team this season," she said. "We are enjoying their talents and training hard."

That hard work is already paying dividends, as the Wildcats finished third in the first conference jamboree on Sept. 4.

"We're looking to continue to improve our times as the season progresses," Hoogewind said.

With the majority of the team new to running, the two team members with previous experience will be relied on to provide leadership and support.

Sophomore Abree VanDenBing is back after a solid freshman season, while freshman Maddie Bumhoffer is making the jump from middle school to high school.

The other team members are senior Ryleigh Haveman, juniors Marissa Ainsworth and Ashlee Weesaw, sophomores Sophia Miller and freshman Elyana Jurkowski.

"The season goal is for the girls to be in the top half of the conference and continue to improve individual times," Hoogewind said.

Trailblazers cruise to win

By Jason Wesseldyk
Sports Editor

SAUGATUCK—Following a season-opening loss to Buchanan, the Saugatuck football was hoping to break into the win column when it hosted Lakeview on Friday, Sept. 5.

Mission accomplished.

The Trailblazers scored early and often in cruising to the 40-6 victory to even their record at 1-1.

"All the credit to my coaching staff," Saugatuck coach Bill Dunn said. "They did a great job in preparing the team for this game."

Saugatuck was firing on all cylinders on both sides of the ball. The Trailblazers racked up nearly 300 rushing yards and 60 passing yards from quarterback Walt Bos, while they limited Lakeview to 51 rushing yards and 113 total yards.

"We had a clean offensive game with no turnovers and good execution up front, with hard running from our backs," Dunn said. "The offense did a nice job of controlling the ball and moving the chains down the field.

Saugatuck ended the half on a high note, as Bos hooked up with Jack Drummond for a 52-yard touchdown with less than a minute to go in the second quarter.

Bos, whose other completion went to Max Page for nine yards, also ran for 29 yards and one touchdown on five carries.

Page spearheaded the running attack, piling up 164 yards and two touchdowns on 19 carries. That was good for an average of 8.6 yards per carry.

Will Soule added 75 yards and one TD on 11 carries.

"All the backs were very efficient, and that's a credit to the offensive line upfront," Dunn said.

Dante Holley converted on four of his five extra-point attempts.

Nolan LaLonde led the defensive charge with 10 tackles, followed by Drummond with seven and AJ Gosler with five.

"We did a nice job of controlling the line scrimmage and limiting the big play," Dunn said. "We're looking to carry the momentum to next week at Brandywine."

The game with Brandywine on Friday, Sept. 12, will be Saugatuck's first road contest of the season. Brandywine will enter the game at 0-2 following a home loss to Hartford (52-8) in Week 1 and 32-31 defeat on the road to Watervliet in Week 2.

Saugatuck soccer ties

By Jason Wesseldyk
Sports Editor

SAUGATUCK—On Monday, Sept. 8, the Saugatuck boys soccer team faced a tough challenge as they hosted a South Haven team that came in as an Honorable Mention selection in the most recent Division 3 rankings.

And while the Trailblazers weren't quite able to get a win, they didn't suffer a loss, either.

The teams battled to a 1-1 tie, moving Saugatuck's record to 6-2-1.

Dante Holley accounted for the Saugatuck goal, with the assist going to Nicoli Vinten-Johansen.

On Wednesday, Sept. 3, the Trailblazers traveled to Parchment and secured the 7-1 victory.

Holley was a one-man wrecking crew for Saugatuck, as he racked up five goals and one assist.

Charlie Robison accounted for the other two goals in addition to assisting on two of Holley's tallies.

Tommy Bullinger added one assist.

Allegan soccer beats host Constantine

By Jason Wesseldyk

CONSTANTINE—Colby Bishop had quite an offensive performance for the Allegan boys soccer team in its road contest with Constantine on Monday, Sept. 8.

Bishop scored two goals and assisted on three others to lead the Tigers to the 9-1 win.

LJ Dial and Sawyer Wedge also played a role in multiple goals, with each scoring one and assisting on another.

"We had a lot of teamwork today and the kids passed the ball around well, finding their space and punching a lot of balls up and through," Allegan coach Andy Bishop said.

On Saturday, Sept. 6, Allegan played a pair of games, losing 3-1 to Kalamazoo Home School and beating Our Lady of the Lake 5-0.

Donnie Allen scored three times against Our Lady of the Lake, while Fritz Thede and Colby Bishop each scored once. Leland McKellips accounted for the lone goal against Kalamazoo Home School.

"It was a good day to see a lot of players get playing time and show everyone what they can do as individuals and a team," Andy Bishop said.

Martin football rolls past Marcellus

By Jason Wesseldyk
Sports Editor

MARTIN—Martin held its homecoming festivities when the football team hosted Marcellus for a gridiron showdown on Friday, Sept. 5.

And with senior quarterback Haylen Buell once again leading the charge, the Clippers gave the home crowd plenty to cheer about.

Buell racked up 186 yards of total offense and had a hand in four touchdowns as Martin secured the 44-14 victory to improve to 2-0.

Three of Buell's TDs came on the ground, while he hooked up with Weson Elkins for a passing touchdown.

As if his offensive production wasn't enough, Buell also racked up 11 tackles on defense. That was good enough to tie Isaac Suk and Seth Toris for best on the team.

Despite the final score, Martin coach Brad Blauvelt thought his team could have executed better in the first half.

"We played much better in the second half," he said. "But we have some things to tighten up this week."

Blauvelt was especially pleased with the performance of the offensive line after halftime.

"I'm proud of the offensive line in the second half," Blauvelt said. "Those guys really took over the game, anchored by Peyton Schuring Harris and James Gruber."

Elkins finished with a pair of receptions for the night, amassing a total of 45 yards.

Toris teamed with Buell to spearhead the running game. Toris ran for 89 yards on 12 carries, with one of those carries resulting in a touchdown.

In addition to his tackles, Suk also had two sacks and a forced fumble on defense. Anderson Keeler added eight tackles, while Hartley Branch chipped in with seven stops to help keep Marcellus off balance offensively.

The Clippers will try to improve to 3-0 when they host Holton on Friday, Sept. 12, marking Martin's third straight home game to open the season. Holton comes in at 0-2 following losses to Colon and Coleman.

After the Holton game, the Clippers will hit the road for three consecutive games (Gobles on Sept. 19, Eau Claire on Sept. 26 and Muskegon Heights Oct. 3) before returning home against Sacred Heart Academy on Friday, Oct. 10.

Otsego girls golf wins pair of league jamborees

By Jason Wesseldyk
Sports Editor

BUCHANAN—The Niles-hosted Wolverine Conference girls golf jamboree at Orchard Hills took place on Monday, Sept. 8.

And as has been the case in the previous two league competitions, it was Otsego that came out on top.

The Bulldogs posted a score of 193, while Plainwell was second at 207.

Otsego's Avery Selent earned medalist honors with a 38. Plainwell's Alya Jaeger was close behind in second place.

Otsego's Annika Quakenbush tied for third, while teammate Malania Miller secured a tie for sixth. Plainwell's Emma Rayman also made it into the top 10, placing ninth.

On Wednesday, Sept. 3, Sturgis hosted a jamboree at Island Hills, with Otsego posting a winning score of 178 and Plainwell placing second at 187.

Jaeger led the field with an impressive even-par round of 36. Selent finished close behind in second with a 38, highlighted by an eagle on the final hole.

Quakenbush placed third, while Otsego's Malania Miller tied for fifth. Also in the top 10 were Plainwell's Sam LaBonte and Addison Lyke, who tied for eighth.

Allegan 27 Delton 22

Brandon Thrash and Landen Geddes formed quite a one-two punch for Allegan in the Tigers' home opener against Delton on Friday, Sept. 5.

Thrash ran for 151 yards and two touchdowns on 27 carries, while Geddes passed for 135 yards and one TD to lead Allegan to the 27-22 win.

With the victory, the Tigers evened their record at 1-1.

"This game was full of big plays offensively and dominant physical play on defense," Allegan coach Tony Danzig said. "We proved we can move the ball on the ground and in the air."

The Tigers found themselves down throughout most of the game before Thrash scored his second touchdown in the fourth quarter. That score was set up by a 79-yard reception by Bradyn Kosiorowski.

"While trailing Delton the entire game, the team never gave up," Danzig said. "This team has a never-quit attitude, and it showed all game long. Hats off to Delton for a great high school football game."

Kosiorowski had three catches for 115 yards and one TD.

On defense, Dylan Ritsema and Sullivan Garvin tied for a team high in tackles with nine. Kosiorowski added seven tackles with a fumble recovery.

Hopkins 42 Parchment 8

If you mention the name "Justin VanWagner" to Parchment's defensive coordinator, he just might break into a cold sweat.

And for good reason.

VanWagner torched the Parchment defense to the tune of 206 yards and three touchdowns on just 12 carries—an average of more than 17 yards per carry—to lift Hopkins to the 42-8 victory.

The win upped the Vikings' record to 2-0.

VanWagner didn't wait long to set the tone for the game, racing 50 yards for a first-quarter touchdown. He added a pair of scoring runs in the second quarter, the first covering 40 yards and the second from seven yards out.

Blake Schwartz (15-yard run in the second quarter), Brayden Harnish (18-yard run in the third quarter) and Matthew Guzman (3-yard run in the third quarter) also found the end zone for Hopkins.

Cruz Hitzler finished with 76 yards on eight carries, while Harnish added 58 yards on eight carries and quarterback Merek Zapolnik contributed 42 yards on 11 carries.

Zapolnik added 23 passing yards on 3-of-5 accuracy. Schwartz caught two of those passes for seven yards, while Blake Hyma had one catch for 16 yards.

Henry Teunissen racked up a team-best six tackles. He also had one sack and one tackle for loss, as did Colin Gibson.

Hyma added a fumble recovery and Austin Schaendorf came up with an interception.

Plainwell 34 Galesburg-Augusta 20

After finishing with one win in each of the past two seasons, the Plainwell football team had a chance to surpass that win total when it traveled Galesburg-Augusta on Friday, Sept. 5.

The Trojans did just that.

Led by three touchdowns from quarterback Luke Filkins, Plainwell earned the 34-20 victory to improve to 2-0 for the first time since 2022.

Third-year Plainwell coach Brian Huberty knows how big the win was for his players.

"It was really important to come out of week 1 and 2 with wins that build momentum for our program," he said. "Our kids have worked really hard and to see the fruit of that work is important."

Filkins finished the game 6-of-8 passing for 145 yards, including a touchdown to Chib Amaezechi. Filkins also had two rushing touchdowns as part of a 58-yards-on-12-carries effort.

Amaezechi finished with 80 yards on three catches to go with one carry that resulted in a 70-yard touchdown.

Cameron Larsen added a team-best 98 yards and one touchdown on seven carries.

On the defensive side, Aiden Beck led the way for Plainwell with 7.5 tackles. Drew Rayman had two tackles and two interceptions, while Grayson Nash had a fumble recovery.

"This is a good start for us," Huberty said. "Now, we're looking forward to hosting a really tough Vicksburg team this week."

Plainwell will host 1-1 Vicksburg on Friday, Sept. 12. Vicksburg won its opener against Mattawan (41-14) at home, before dropping a road decision to Northview (23-21).

Fennville 14 NorthPointe Christian 42

An early deficit proved too much for the Fennville football team to overcome in its road game against NorthPointe Christian on Friday, Sept. 5.

The Blackhawks fell behind 28-0 early in the second quarter and ultimately dropped the game 42-12 to slip to 1-1 for the season.

The final two-and-a-half quarters went much better for Fennville, which matched NorthPointe with 14 points during that span.

"This was a tough-fought loss to a good, physical NorthPointe team," Fennville coach Wendell Hughes Sr. said. "I'm proud of the way we fought to the final whistle."

Carter Thompson accounted for Fennville's first touchdown, finding Gavin Kempker on an 8-yard pass midway through the second quarter. Thompson made good on the ensuing 2-point conversion run to make the score 28-8 in favor of NorthPointe.

Later in the same quarter, Blackhawk Jayden Sneller intercepted a pass and raced 40 yards to the end zone to make it 35-14.

Thompson went 11-of-19 passing for 94 yards to go with a team-best 57 rushing yards on 13 carries. Ashton Halcomb had 40 yards on three catches, while Ely Schut hauled in four passes for 37 yards.

Halcomb and Schut also led the defense with 10 and nine respective tackles.

"We'll learn from this and regroup to get ready for next week," Hughes said.

The Blackhawks will travel to Bloomingdale on Friday, Sept. 12, to face the 0-2 Cardinals.

Hamilton 27 Middleville 28

Trailing by a single point with less than a minute to go in its home contest with Middleville on Friday, Sept. 5, first-year Hamilton football coach Zach Harbison had a decision to make.

Go for one and the tie to force overtime, or go for two and the win?

Harbison opted for choice two, but the conversion attempt failed as Middleville hung on for the 28-27 victory at the Hawkeyes' expense.

Hamilton found itself behind 28-21 before quarterback Hudsen Hulst hooked up with Brooks Hawkins on a 35-yard touchdown with 47 seconds remaining in the fourth quarter.

Hawkins finished with two TDs, as he also scored on the ground earlier in the game. Hulst also had a scoring pass to Brett Schrotenboer, giving Hulst two TDs through the air.

On the defensive end, Carter Hickock had an interception returned for a touchdown for Hamilton.

The Hawkeyes, who fell to 0-2, will hope to break into the win column on Friday, Sept. 12, when they host Union, also 0-2. Union's losses came to Zeeland West (34-8 on Aug. 28) and Okemos (7-6 on Sept. 5).

Both of Union's first two games were on the road.

Hot 'n Now returns to Wayland: burger chain begins revival in West Michigan

By Andrea Philipp

Hot 'n Now, the once-prominent fast-food chain known for its 39-cent burgers and streamlined drive-thru model, is making a comeback—beginning in Wayland. The long-dormant brand, once a staple of Michigan's fast-food landscape, is returning with a renewed focus on affordability, nostalgia, and efficiency.

The new Wayland location, located at 1146 129th Avenue across from Gun Lake Casino, is expected to open in October 2025. The project is being led by HNN Holdings LLC, a partnership between Gun Lake Investments—the economic development arm of the Match-E-Be-Nash-She-Wish Band of Pottawatomi Indians (Gun Lake Tribe)—and Alpena-based developer Jeff Konczak.

"This isn't just a business opportunity; it's a cultural revival," said Monica King, CEO of Gun Lake Investments. "Hot 'n Now was once a beloved part of everyday life in Michigan, and we believe it can be again."

Hot 'n Now was founded in 1984 in Kalamazoo by entrepreneur William Van Domelen. The brand grew rapidly in the 1980s and early 1990s, reaching more than 100 locations across 15 states. Its signature features included a drive-thru-only structure, ultra-fast service, and rock-bottom prices. However, after a series of ownership changes—including a troubled acquisition by PepsiCo—the brand declined sharply. By the early 2000s, nearly all locations had closed, leaving just one remaining restaurant in Sturgis, Michigan.

Despite the decline, Hot 'n Now retained a loyal following across the Midwest. Internet forums and nostalgia blogs have kept the brand's memory alive, and local residents frequently mention favorites like the Olive Burger, Cheesy Taters, and the original crinkle-cut fries.

The new Wayland location has already been delivered and assembled. The 737-square-foot structure was manufactured by B Cubed Manufacturing in Alpena and designed as a modular "plug-and-play" model. This modern version of the original layout features two drive-thru lanes, limited on-site parking, and no indoor dining—staying true to the brand's legacy of speed and minimalism.

Operating hours will be 10:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. Sunday through Thursday, with extended late-night service until 1 a.m. on Fridays and Saturdays.

"We've designed the restaurant to maximize efficiency and affordability," said Jeff Konczak, who has been involved in real estate development across northern Michigan. "Every decision—from construction to staffing to pricing—was made with accessibility in mind."

The revived Hot 'n Now will continue its tradition of offering low-cost meals, though prices will be adapted for today's economy. Menu favorites will return, with the Olive Burger expected to headline offerings alongside Cheesy Taters, shakes, and fries. New menu items may be introduced based on customer feedback and local tastes.

"Affordability is central to our mission," said King. "We want to offer a menu that serves everyone, from college students and families to late-night workers looking for a quick bite."

The Wayland opening is part of a broader plan by Gun Lake Investments to redevelop the U.S. 131 corridor. This region is being reshaped through a mix of commercial, residential, and tribal investment. Hot 'n Now will serve as a flagship brand for this transformation, with the next confirmed location set to open in Alpena later this fall.

Local residents have expressed excitement about the brand's return. Many remember it as a go-to destination for after-school snacks, late-night meals, and weekend stops.

"It was never fancy," said longtime Wayland resident Dave Thompson. "But it was fast, cheap, and it hit the spot. I'm glad my kids will get to try it."

Retriever Fever: How dog-loving event empowers change

By Andrea Philipp

Every September, a wave of wagging tails, smiling faces, and community spirit descends upon West Michigan for a cause greater than fetch and belly rubs. The event? Retriever Fever—a high-energy, family-friendly celebration organized by Paws With A Cause (PAWS).

While it's hosted in Grand Rapids, the impact of this beloved event stretches all the way to Wayland, where PAWS is proudly headquartered. More than a dog festival, Retriever Fever is a powerful reminder that even the smallest towns can play a big role in changing lives.

Retriever Fever takes place at Riverside Park and features a 5K run, a 1-mile fun walk, agility demos, vendor booths, games, raffles, and, of course, plenty of friendly retrievers. Attendees can choose sides in the annual "Team Labrador" vs. "Team Golden" fundraising competition, which adds some playful rivalry to the fundraising efforts.

At its heart, though, the event is a major fundraiser for Paws With A Cause, which trains and places custom assistance dogs with individuals who have physical disabilities, hearing loss, seizure disorders, or autism. The best part? These life-changing dogs are placed at no cost to the client.

Wayland residents don't have to look far to see the impact of Retriever Fever. Paws With A Cause operates its national training center in Wayland. Dogs trained in the community go on to serve people across the country, helping them live more independent, empowered lives.

Now, with a $9.5 million expansion project underway to grow PAWS's Wayland campus, events like Retriever Fever are more important than ever. They raise the visibility and funding needed to train more dogs, serve more clients, and support more families.

Peek at the Past

From the pages of The Allegan News and The Allegan County News and Gazette:

Sept. 11, 1950

Otsego youngsters hold 'stock car' races on cemetery hill: The fame of Roger Gilligan, one of the outstanding stock car racers and oft-time winner at the Chet Jones Speedway, the Allegan County Fair track and the B and K Speedways, has eeked into the veins of the young fry of the city and a soap box derby was hastily arranged one Saturday afternoon and staged on the road north of the city by Mountain Home Cemetery. It was complete with spectators, prizes and police protection.

When chief of police Carl Draper answered the phone, a very business-like voice from the other end of the line asked if police protection could be arranged for a soap box derby.

"Sure," Draper obligingly assured her. And he asked for her address that he might talk over the situation personally, for better results.

When he arrived at the home, he asked for the young lady who was promoting a box car derby and when the mother pointed to her 11-year-old daughter, Charlene Jones, he was more than a little surprised to be confronted with such a young manager.

Says Julie: 'I just had a ball': Miss Michigan 1975, Julie Beckers of Allegan, took back home with her from the Miss America Pageant many treasured memories and a $1,000 Dr. David Allman Memorial scholarship, which was presented to a pageant contestant who is pursuing a career in the medical field.

Julie, who ambition is to become a respiratory therapist, is a freshman at Ferris State College.

She was presented the scholarship at the Sunday awards brunch, the final pageant event which must be attended by contestants. She left the resort immediately afterward to drive home, taking with her an additional $500 scholarship for her participation in the Miss America Pageant.

Julie, in recalling the excitement of Pageant Week, said that one of the funniest things which happened to her here was while she was riding in the Miss America parade Tuesday night.

"I had my shoes off," she said. "And suddenly, in the quiet, a little voice called out, 'Miss Michigan, you'd better put on your shoes.' Everyone just roared. It was so funny."

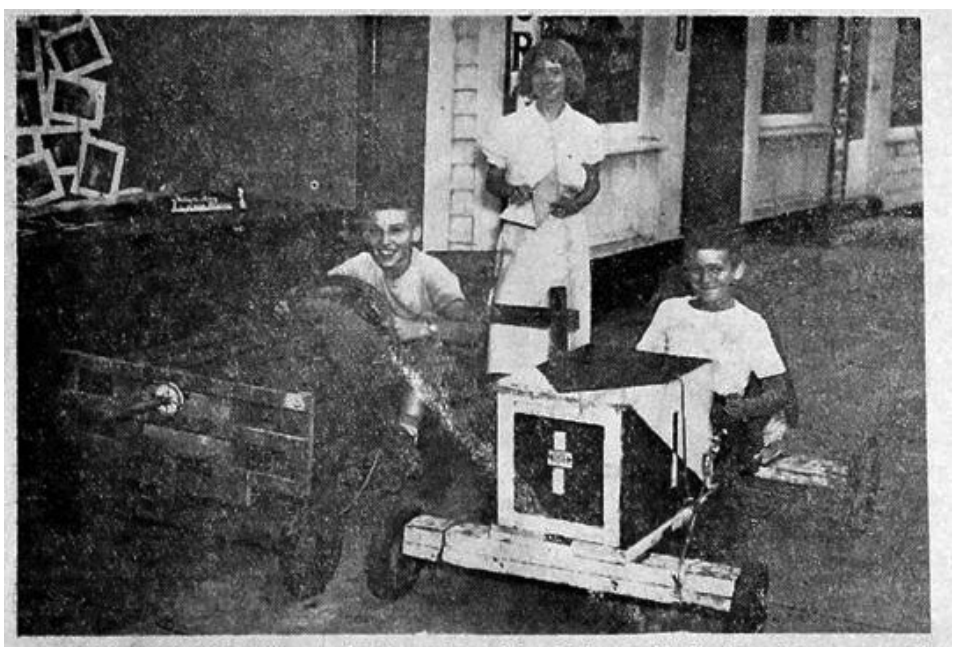
Photo chosen for book: An image of the three children of photographer Diane Sumner will be immortalized in a picture record of a landmark event. Judges from The Millennium Photo Project selected the image for the book "2000/How the World Celebrated."

Sumner took the picture of Tracy, 8, Tommy Lee, 6, and Travis, 3, at home at 12:03 p.m. on Dec. 31, 1999. The period of the photo contest lasted precisely one day from noon to noon.

"We could start at noon on New Year's Eve," Sumner said. "So these were the first shots I took in that 24-hour period."



OTSEGO'S YOUNGER SET — under the managership of 11-year-old Charlene Jones — recently began their own "stock car" racing program. The soap-box specials raced down cemetery hill for real cash prizes. Shown here are Irwin Henderson and Jerry Burd who tied for first place in the feature event. That's Charlene in the middle. —Davis Photo

77-year-old attorney skydives for first time: On Sunday August 30, 2020, the Antkoviak Law Office provided stress relief for its oldest and youngest employees in the form of free falling through the air at 125 mph for 5000 feet then parachuting another five thousand feet to a safe landing at Allegan's Padgham Field. Seventy-seven year old Attorney Peter Antkoviak II explained, "The view was spectacular and I would love to jump again," while legal assistant Matty McKellips (22), who never had been in a plane before, enjoyed every minute and jibbed, "I didn't think once about COVID-19 while I was free falling."

The adventure began as Antkoviak was standing in McKellips' office reading in a newspaper article about skydiving. He remarked to McKellips, "I would like to skydive before I pass." McKellips responded that she would like to also, to which Antkoviak said, "Book it." She did.

A professional shutterbug who takes both studio portraits in her home and artistic subjects in nature, Sumner learned about the photo opportunity in the course of keeping up with her avocation.

"I was checking out contests over the Internet," she said. "I signed up for it. But I didn't know whether I was going to be nominated until I got a notice in late December."

The intent of the Millennium Photo Project, headquartered in Toronto, was to document worldwide the ticking of the clock from the Second Millennium's ending to the Third Millennium's beginning. Sumner acknowledged that many people believe the Second Millennium ends with the last second of Dec. 31, 2000. But spectacular celebrations of New Year's Day 2000 lit skies around the globe eight months ago.

Allegan was no exception.

McKellip's first fear was that she had never been up in any kind of plane, but said, "Once we were up in the air, I was just excited." That is until they opened the door and 120 m/h wind came in, before they stepped out on the small jump platform.

"We backflipped off the platform and did freefall for 30-45 seconds then the parachute opened. It was fantastic." They came down on the grass by the drop zone at the Allegan City Airport.

Antkoviak remembers standing in McKellip's office and making the offer. He was used to flying in small planes into Canada, but in this one, he had to sit on the floor with his knees up to his chest. "The inside of the plane was about 4 feet by 8 feet. The pilot had the only chair, and four of us were lined up down the plane."

"During the jump, I did not do much, and I had faith in the other person," Antkoviak shared. "It was difficult getting out of the plane because I had to reach out for the wing brace then step onto the platform. I was already attached to the instructor, and we rolled off the platform then stopped rolling after several rotations. The instructor got me situated for the freefall by moving my arms and legs out."

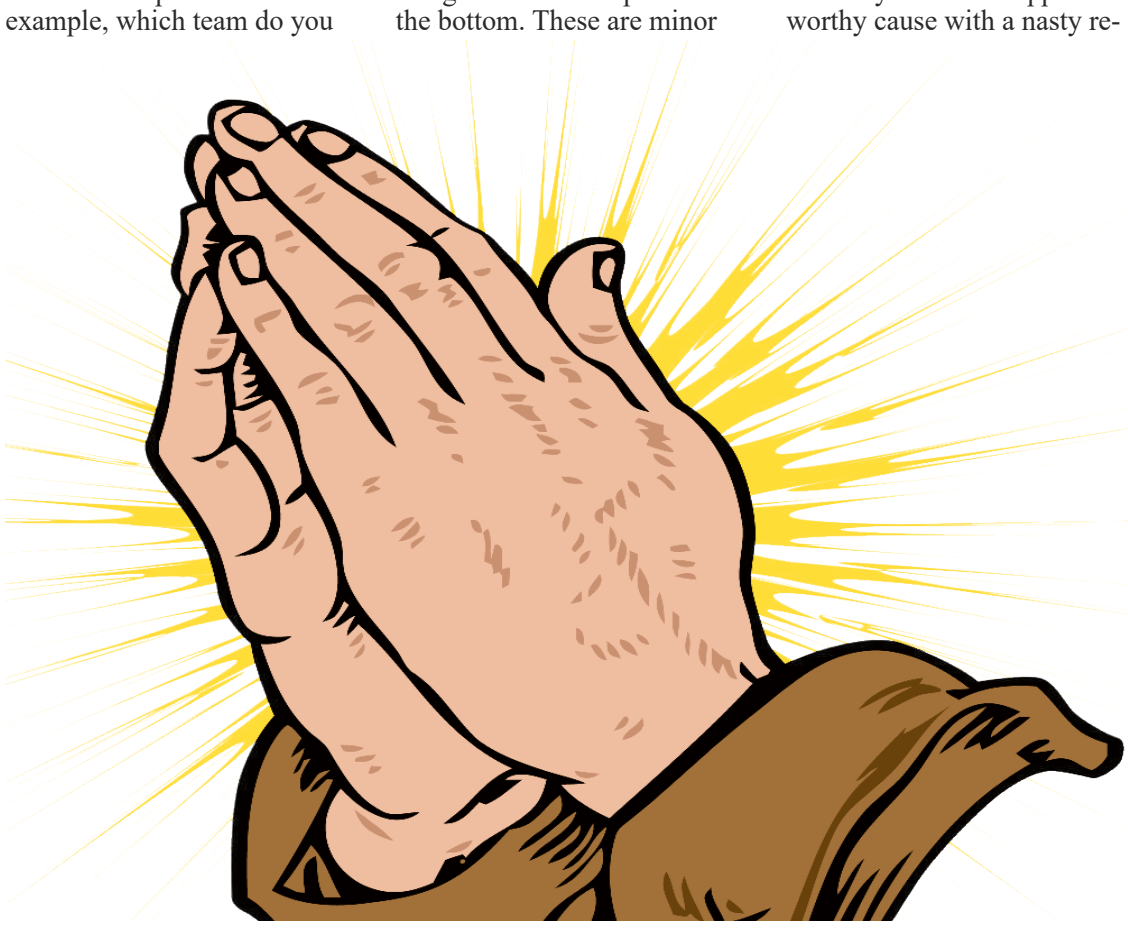
RELIGION SECTION

The last time we had a referendum on a school bond, one of the canvassers asked a resident for his support. The neighbor replied, "Why should I? I don't have any children in school, so I spend my money on this?" Another person replied to a referendum for street repair, "What's in it for me? It's not my street, so I don't care. The folks that live there can be for it. Where is the benefit for me?" Others, of course, said that they were going to be supportive.

It seems that we live in a very fractured society. Certainly, it is obvious when we look at the political climate, where divisiveness is rife and compromise is sometimes seen as a tremendous offense. Fractures can also be found in most organizations, churches, and even homes. The root of the problem is when we focus first on how something benefits us.

It is an ancient truth that it is nice to be people who are nice; it is easy to love people who are loveable. That is what makes the first verse of the thirteenth chapter of Hebrews so challenging. It is a game changer in almost all of our relationships. The author wrote, "Let mutual love continue." How do we remain nice to people who are not so nice to us; love people when we receive nothing in return; love people who are blatantly selfish?

It is one thing to disagree with another person. For example, which team do you like better, the Cubs or Sox? Or, plain mac and cheese versus lobster mac and cheese, or even pizza with or without pineapple. Families can disagree whether the bathroom roll goes over the top or under the bottom. These are minor matters of opinion that have little impact on the rest of the world.



But when we intentionally walk past someone who has been hurt in an accident, or callously refuse to support a worthy cause with a nasty remark, is an absence of mutual love. Often, by extension, it helps lead to a more rapid breakdown of society. That is because it is indifference to the needs or plight of others. It can also be a very tangible sign that a person really does not care for the world around him or her.

Recently, many of us have spoken and written about the anger and hate in the world. That is a definite danger, but I think apathy is far more dangerous. The person in the first paragraph who asked for a reason why they should support a bond that benefits the school, is shortsightedly replying, "Why should I care about students and the world? The person who asked, "What's in it for me?" is equally apathetic.

The sole antidote to apathy is to keep foremost in our mind, that first verse in the chapter: Let mutual love continue." In his letter to the Colossians, St Paul reminded us to put the needs ahead of our own, to care, and to be compassionate.
